

City Refuses to Collect Ashes

Unless They Are Separated From Garbage, Swill and Other Vegetable Matter—Drastic Action Necessary—Plan to Arrest Violators of Health Ordinances and Sanitary Laws.

Carelessness among householders in mixing ashes and garbage has reached such large proportions in this city that drastic action has been necessary by the board of health and board of public works, with the result that instructions have been issued to the street force not to collect ashes which are mixed with garbage, swill or other vegetable matter.

The action taken by the authorities is in line with the provisions of one of the city ordinances, whose publication has been authorized by the common council.

The City Law.
The ordinance prohibiting the mixing of garbage with ashes, etc., under which the city authorities are acting, provides as follows:

"Swill and vegetable matter must be placed in cans or other receptacles and covered and kept separate from ashes and other garbage, as required by the board of health; and all garbage, such as ashes, sweepings, etc., must be placed in cans, barrels, boxes or other receptacles convenient for handling, and placed out at the outer side of the walk the night before or early on the morning of the day appointed for removal of same as designated in this notice.

"Any person or persons offending against any of the provisions of this ordinance shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and same shall not be collected."

Violators to be Arrested.
In addition to finding their mixed ashes and garbage uncollected, householders will find that the board of health intends to conduct a vigorous campaign against offenders by having them to court under the provisions of the ordinance quoted above and of other sanitary and health laws.

City Dumps Like Stinkpots.
City dumps have become so mixed with decaying garbage and vegetable matter that the atmosphere for a considerable distance near them is filled with vile smells which not only are nauseating but almost asphyxiating. The nauseating smells are carried by the wind in every direction, as the wind changes, and at certain times of the day and night, make it impossible for the occupants of nearby houses to keep their windows open.

Garbage Disposal Big Problem.
That the city is faced with a problem of considerable magnitude is realized by all officials who have given the matter any attention.

The most pressing problem is the separation of ashes and other material from garbage and vegetable matter, but it is expected that householders will correct this evil themselves as soon as they find the mixture remains uncollected from their premises and possibly after a few streets have been made. The most common practice of householders is to wrap vegetable matter in newspapers and place them in their ash barrels with ashes and rubbish.

The next problem is the disposal of swill and garbage, but the city authorities feel that they will be able to handle this matter with comparative ease. Until recently it has been customary for farmers and others who raise pigs to collect much of the city garbage and to feed it to their pigs. However, they found that garbage was allowed to become so old that poisons formed in it from the decaying matter with the result that the pigs became sick and died.

One farmer last year lost forty pigs in this way.

The householders who wish to avoid trouble should see that ashes and garbage are separated.

LaFollette May Seek Democrat

"Strong Eastern Democrat" Said to be in Demand as His Running Mate.

(By Kenneth Clark.)
By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, July 15.—Senator Robert M. LaFollette's heaviest campaign guns will be fired in the eastern political battle grounds this fall.

At LaFollette's own request, plans were being worked out by his managers today for a strenuous drive along the Atlantic seaboard, straight into the heart of what they call "enemy territory."

In the agricultural west, LaFollette's lieutenants already claim the largest vote for their chief. For that reason, they now propose to wage a big fight in eastern states, particularly New, Pennsylvania, Ohio and New Jersey, which have large votes in the electoral college, in an attempt to capture strength from both Davis and Coolidge.

Qualifications for Running Mate.
LaFollette himself was said to be sanguine about his prospects in the east, especially in the larger industrial centers. If he can find a "strong eastern Democrat" as running mate, for whom his managers are searching, LaFollette feels there is any excellent chance to swing several Atlantic coast states into his column this fall.

State headquarters will be opened shortly in New York, Cleveland, Harrisburg, Pa., and probably Trenton, N. J., with sub-offices in other large eastern cities.

Open Campaign in East.
Because it is now planned to open the campaign first in the east, LaFollette may postpone his trip to his home in Madison, Wisconsin, until late in August. LaFollette himself wants to be on the ground when the eastern drive is launched.

LaFollette's stay in Madison also may be cut shorter than originally contemplated. It probably will be interrupted by frequent trips to national headquarters in Chicago where radio equipment will be available for broadcasting his speeches.

Consider Expensive Western Trip.
Every day LaFollette's office is besieged with letters and telegrams urging him to come to the Pacific coast. Although his managers have advised him against too strenuous a speaking tour, it was learned that LaFollette himself is seriously considering a three or four weeks' trip in October that will take him along the northern tier of states to the coast, returning through the southwest before election with a rally meeting in Cleveland's great public hall, where he was endorsed for the presidency by the conference for Progressive Political Action.

Kingston Taxi In New Quarters
The Kingston Taxi Service, Inc., today began moving from its old quarters at 11 Railroad avenue to the large building formerly occupied by Schwabach's West Shore Garage.

The new quarters of the Kingston Taxi Service are much larger than the garage which it has occupied, and has entrances both from Railroad avenue and Thomas street.

Besides continuing its day and night taxi service, the Kingston Taxi Service will engage also in repair work of all kinds, washing and storage of cars.

The work of removal will be completed within a short time, and various machines to be used in connection with the repair work will be installed promptly.

Smith Held For Grand Jury.
There was one case in police court this morning when the case against Edward Smith, who was arrested on July 5 for failure to stop after colliding with an Abel street, over the city limits on Abel street, was brought up for hearing. Through his attorney, Chris J. Flanagan, Smith waived examination and was held to await the action of the next grand jury. District Attorney Traver appeared for The People in the case.

Dance at Lake Katrine.
The regular Tuesday night dance will be held at Lake Katrine Grange Hall this evening. Music by Zucca's orchestra. Refreshments will be on sale by the members of the grange.

Davis Troubled Over Manager

Objections Raised to Four Men Already Suggested—Usual Talk of "Dark Horse"—Expect Decision Soon.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, July 15.—The most important and somewhat troublesome problem right now confronting John W. Davis, Democratic nominee for president, is the selection of his campaign manager. In other words, the selection of the man who will succeed Cordell Hull, retiring chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

Davis again took up this disturbing problem with his advisers here today and there were indications that a decision would be reached within a short time—Friday at the latest.

The presidential nominee was silent when asked who probably would be his choice, adding:

"I have not offered the chairmanship to anybody—yet."

Four Men Mentioned.
In the conferences of the last thirty-six hours, the names of four men have been mentioned prominently for the post. They are:

Frank L. Polk, of New York, close personal friend of Davis and former law partner.

Vance McCormick, of Pennsylvania, who ran the second Wilson campaign and who is credited by his friends with having displayed a knack at organization and rounding up of funds in the campaign of 1916.

George White, of Ohio, former national chairman, the man who conducted the campaign of James M. Cox four years ago.

C. L. Shaver, of West Virginia, the "original Davis man."

The Political Objections.
Objections have been voiced to all four of these men. Polk, it is declared, is opposed by Tammany because he spent a large part of his political career fighting Tammany; McCormick, it is opposed, it is understood, by the Pennsylvania Democrats led by Joseph P. Guffey, national committeeman of that state, because he fought Guffey for control of the Pennsylvania organization in the spring primaries. White is said to be opposed by Edward H. Moore, national committeeman of Ohio, while Shaver is opposed by some on the ground that he is comparatively unknown nationally and a doubtful political quantity.

West Virginian's Chances Good.
Of the four, many close observers believe Shaver has the best chance of being selected. He is a warm, person, friend of Davis and played a major part in that great political drama entitled "Putting John W. Davis Across."

It was said today, however, that there is a possibility none of these men will be chosen—that Davis will express his preference for a "dark horse," for some one not heretofore mentioned.

Sands Award to Be Contested
Owner of Glencliff Falls Opposes Confirmation of Award of $18,500 for That Property—Other Awards Continued.

Supreme Court Justice Wesley O. Howard has ratified, approved and confirmed in all respects with one exception the seventh separate report of Commission No. 5, Messrs. William H. Murray, Arthur Sheridan and Joseph J. McGrath, filed June 6 with the Ulster county clerk, in regard to real estate and business damage claims growing out of the construction by the New York city board of water supply.

The one exception is the award in the claim of James H. Sands, owner of Glencliff Falls and adjacent property. The Sands claim was for $1,500,000 and the award was $18,500 and a separate order will be entered by Justice Howard in that matter.

The cases in which the awards were confirmed were those in which there was no opposition on the part of claimants.

The award in the Sands case, however, was opposed by counsel for Sands and the matter was to have been argued before Judge Howard two weeks ago but was postponed on account of the illness of William H. Hogan, counsel for the city of New York. It will be argued later.

The total amount of the claims included in the commission's report was $2,365,935, and the awards totaled $30,290. The commission recommended the counsel fees to the amount of $1,478.25 and expenses and disbursements of claimants to the amount of $2,660 be paid. George P. Nicholson, corporation counsel, Frank J. Coyle and William H. Hogan appeared for New York city board of water supply; John E. Mack of Poughkeepsie for James H. Sands.

IMPROVEMENTS UNDER WAY ON WALL STREET.
Improvements now under way on Wall street include the painting of the dome on the court house, the regliding of the ball, the repainting of the weather vane and the cornice, the painting of the exterior of the State of New York National Bank, and the placing of a modern front for the New York Sample Shop in the Clermont building.

No Gasoline War In Kingston, Dealers Say

Price Reduction Due to Drop in Price of Crude Oil—Another Reduction Anticipated—Three Big Producers Announce Cut—Albany Dealers Sell at Loss.

No further reductions in the price of gasoline were reported today at the offices of the different oil companies except for the fact the Kingston Oil Company, distributors for Tydol gasoline, and one of the largest dealers in Kingston, has announced a drop of two cents a gallon retail in the price of gasoline, bringing the price down to 20 cents. The reduction went into effect Monday.

One retail dealer on Ferry street, William Hiltbrand, is selling gasoline at 19 cents per gallon which is one cent under the other dealers.

No Gas War Here.
The reduction in the price of gasoline in town is not due to a "fight" or "gasoline war" as in several up-state cities where gas has been forced down to 12 cents a gallon. The present reduction is due to a drop in the price of crude oil which has been steadily dropping for some time.

An official of the Kingston Oil Company stated that there is every indication of a further decline in the price of gasoline and expressed his opinion that an additional drop of one cent at least would soon be announced. The price of crude oil at present warrants a price of 17 or 18 cents a gallon and it is expected that this will bring about further reduction within a short time in the price of gasoline.

In up-state cities where independent dealers are selling independent gasoline bought from various sources in the open market, the price has been dropped several times, bringing about a "gasoline war," but these extremely low prices are not warranted by the present price of crude oil and are only temporary.

Other local dealers express practically the same view of the gas situation in Kingston.

Big Producers Reduce Price.
New York, July 15.—The Standard Oil Company of New York today reduced gasoline prices one cent a gallon in its territory, including New York state and New England. Tank wagon prices are now 19 cents a gallon.

The Sinclair Consolidated Oil Corporation and the Texas Company announced similar reductions.

Albany Selling at Loss.
Albany, N. Y., July 15.—One of the most hotly fought dealers' wars in years brought the price of gasoline down to 12 cents a gallon at some stations in Albany today. Two weeks ago gas was selling here for 24 cents a gallon.

Dealers believed the lowest level has been reached. Many claimed they were selling at a loss. Some said they expected to see the price go up to 16 or 18 cents by the end of the week.

Only a few of the filling stations were selling for 12 cents today. A majority were charging 16 and 18 cents.

"We are confident the lowest point has been reached" said one of the big dealers. "Prices will probably mount again to about 18 cents and stay there."

Smith Appointee Heads Tammany
George L. Olvany Selected Chief of Tammany Hall to Succeed Charles F. Murphy—Will Resign Job as Judge.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, July 15.—Judge George L. Olvany, newly elected chief of Tammany Hall, today was preparing to resign as judge of general sessions as soon as he disposes of a few matters before him. He will resume the practice of law.

Judge Olvany, following his election by the Tammany executive committee late yesterday to the post left vacant by the late Charles F. Murphy, said he expected to follow the general policies of his former leader.

"I don't know a better example to follow," Olvany declared.

The new Wigwam chieftain is 48 years old, born on the East Side, near to the home of Governor Smith, who appointed him to the bench last January. Olvany was counsel to the sheriff's office for many years and a Democratic district leader.

Three Sentenced To County Jail
Three names were added to the register of the Ulster county jail Monday night, two from the town of Ulster and one from the town of Rosendale. Lenzy Maben was committed by Justice of the Peace Walter Webber of Flatbush to be held until his case is acted upon by a grand jury. He is charged with grand larceny, having separated another man of $106 of his cash. Beatty, who was found guilty of having been drunk and disorderly, was sentenced by Justice Webber to serve ten days. The third arrival was Joseph Smith, who was committed by Justice of the Peace Weston Clark of Rosendale to serve five days unless he pays the $5 fine imposed for having been intoxicated in a public place.

Notify Coolidge On August 14

Notification Was Postponed on Account of Son's Death—Will Broadcast Speeches Throughout East—Dawes to Campaign in West.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, July 15.—Plans for the active prosecution of President Coolidge's campaign to succeed himself, it was announced today, will be mapped out in a series of conferences opening here tomorrow. A Republican "board of strategy," headed by the president himself, and William M. Butler, chairman of the national committee, has been called for the purpose.

Notification August 14.
The opening gun will be fired on August 14, agreed upon as the date for Mr. Coolidge's formal notification of his nomination. Invitations to this affair, postponed from the original date this month, following the tragic death a week ago of Calvin Coolidge, Jr., were sent out today to Republican governors, congressmen and other prominent members of the party.

Broadcast Acceptance Speech.
The president's speech of acceptance, which, with all others he will make, is to be broadcast over the radio, will sound the keynote of the Republican attack on the opposing candidates.

Dividing the Work.
Tentative arrangements for the campaign call for a few speeches in person by the president and somewhat greater number over the radio. The east will be Mr. Coolidge's principal "stamping grounds" and he is not expected at any time to set further west than the Mississippi. Beyond that dividing line, General Charles G. Dawes, his running mate, will be left to carry the standard.

A large number of invitations to fill speaking engagements already have reached the White House from Philadelphia, Baltimore or Boston may see the president personally in the immediate east. Chicago, St. Louis or some similarly situated city may be visited in the central regions, in order to facilitate radio broadcasting to the more western points.

To Follow Former Practice.
For the most part, however, a "back porch" campaign will be conducted. The president has been in the habit of greeting capital visitors from the south portico of the White House and his managers believe continuance of this practice will be an admirable way of getting his views before the country.

New Hospital to Open July 27
New Building at Benedictine Hospital Will Be Formally Opened—Cardinal Hayes May Be Present.

Announcement was made today that the new building at the Benedictine Hospital will be formally opened on Sunday, July 27, at which time it is hoped that His Eminence, Cardinal Hayes of the Archdiocese of New York, will be present and assist in the formal ceremonies.

The new hospital building, which more than doubles the capacity of the Benedictine Hospital, recently has been completed and the work of furnishing it in accordance with the most modern hospital ideas will be finished by that time. Various details have delayed the opening, which originally had been planned to take place some time ago.

Catskills Grow In Popularity
Railroad Travel to Mountain Resorts Exceeds That of Last Year—Heavy Bookings for Balance of Season.

If travel over the Ulster and Delaware railroad can be used as an index, the Catskill Mountains are more popular as a summer resort this year than last. During the first week of July the railroad carried 1,700 more people than it did at the same time last year. Altogether 13,000 people were carried into the mountains by the railroad during the first week of July. Of this number 8,200 were carried during the holiday period over the Fourth of July.

From a survey that the railroad officials have made, all indications point to the fact that travel during the latter part of this month and the first of next month will be a great deal in excess of that of the first of this month. This prediction is based on the fact that the larger hotels in the mountains are a long way from being filled at the present time where these same places report large bookings for next month. The small hotels are well filled at the present time.

Paris Honors American Flyers

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Paris, July 15.—With a good night's sleep to refresh them, the American "round-the-world" flyers faced a busy round of functions today—their last in the French capital. Tomorrow they will hop off for England.

At 11:30 this morning the six Americans, headed by Lieut. Lowell Smith, visited the grave of France's unknown soldier, and placed a wreath upon it.

It was a huge wreath of white roses and lotus blossoms that Lieutenant Smith placed over the grave which is under the famous Arch of Triumph.

General Nelsael, of the French aviation corps, received the Americans in the name of the French government.

General Pershing entertained the flyers at luncheon at the Hotel Crillon at 1 o'clock and at 5 o'clock they were official guests of Paris at a reception at the Hotel de Ville.

Day was to end with a banquet given in their honor by Laurent Eynac, secretary of aviation.

Britain Prepares Reception.
London, July 15.—England was preparing today to welcome round the world flyers, who will land at Crofton tomorrow, proceeding the following day to Brough, where their planes will be overhauled and pontoons substituted for the wheel landing gear.

On July 24, the flyers will hop off for the Orkney Islands, off the north coast of Scotland, and then jump across the Atlantic via Iceland and Greenland to Canada, landing in upper Quebec province.

Representatives of the air minister, King George, the Prince of Wales and Ambassador Kellogg will meet the American airmen at the Crofton Aerodrome. A series of receptions has been arranged for tomorrow evening and night.

The British have offered the Americans the use of their shops at Brough, and English mechanics will aid in overhauling the planes.

Sieze Drugs Worth $1,000,000
By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, July 15.—Nine persons were arrested and drugs said to be valued at $1,000,000 were seized in a raid by Federal agents today on board the Italian steamship Duilio.

Sixteen Federal agents, assisted by nearly 100 customs guards, staged the raid.

The authorities declared that the arrest and seizure broke up one of the biggest "dope" rings in the country and will materially reduce the amount of drugs being brought into this country.

Prisoners taken in the raid gave their names as: Francesco Schisano, captain; Albert Eucchi, first officer; August Pilelli, first officer; Vincent Messina, third officer; August Sero, third officer; Louis Pessanti, chief purser; Louis Catella, assistant purser, and Gratta Atura, ship's plumber. All said they lived in Genoa. Violations of the Miller Act, prohibiting the smuggling of narcotics into the United States, were filed against the prisoners.

The Duilio reached New York yesterday, having sailed July 2nd from Genoa and continuing from Naples. She carried 421 passengers.

Debs Comes Out For LaFollette
By Telegram to The Freeman.
Chicago, July 15.—Eugene V. Debs today formally declared himself for Robert M. LaFollette for the presidency and urged all members of the Socialist party to support the Wisconsin senator's candidacy. It is the first formal statement to be made by the veteran leader of the Socialist party since the organization decided at its Cleveland convention to put a nomination party ticket in the field this fall.

In making his pronouncement as titular head of the party, Debs declared the alliance thus made with the LaFollette party for independent political action constitutes the grasping of this golden opportunity, at this supreme juncture, with formation of an American labor party in sight.

Game at Athletic Field.
Manager McNally's Spauldinger team will play the Kelly All Stars this evening at the Athletic Field.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Seattle, Washington, July 15.—The peril from forest fires, raging beyond control in a score of widely separated sectors of the west and northwest, today continued unabated despite desperate attempts of hundreds of volunteer fire fighters to check the on-rushing flames.

After a night of terror, in which the blood-red sky and overhanging pall of smoke told of thousands of feet of virgin lumber being transformed into pillars of flame, casualties, according to reports reaching here, were approximated at nearly fifty dead and as many injured. An estimate of the property damage, forestry officials said today, is impossible.

The dead today included 35 persons believed to have perished as the flames swept Wheeler's Mill, in Ben D'Orville county. No word had been heard from them this morning.

British Columbia Heavy Sufferer.
From the north, across the international boundary, also came word of thirty men trapped in the Salmon Valley, British Columbia. Paralyzed communication today made verification impossible, but no report of a rescue had trickled through to this city this morning and forestry officials fear the men perished.

Scattering casualties from other points—word of families missing here and individuals there—also were reported but no general check up so far has been made.

Today it seemed that only a change of weather conditions could prevent the spread of the craft of disaster.

Los Angeles Drafts Fighters.
Los Angeles, Cal., July 15.—Man power, drafted from the streets of the city to battle throughout the long night, besides hundreds of volunteers, in an effort to check the progress of the worst forest fire in the history of southern California, today had failed to stem the onrush of the flames. The fire this morning was raging on three new fronts and was cutting its way through the San Libre mountains.

Residents of at least three settlements in its path already have abandoned their homes. What toll in human life the six days' blaze has taken, forestry officials today say they could not estimate.

Enjoin Brokers From Selling
By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, July 15.—Injunctions restraining four brokers from selling securities to the public had secured today by State Attorney General Carl Sherman, as a result of investigation conducted by Deputy Attorney General Willard Chambers, assisted by the Better Business Bureau.

Charles Greenhaus was restrained from selling any of the securities of the Middle States Oil Corporation and from offering bonds and notes of the corporation for shares of its common stock.

Campbell Mason, and the Radio Securities and Finance Corporation, of which he is assistant treasurer and manager, were restrained from selling any securities whatsoever in New York state.

Allen Schanz, with whom were associated David B. Goldsmith and Lewis Hughes, in the firm of Allen S. Schanz and Company, and George Gibson, operating under the name of the American Security Transfer Company, were also restrained by court order, obtained by Sherman, from buying and selling securities in this state.

In the Surrogate's Court.
In Surrogate's court, in the matter of the judicial settlement of the accounts of Margaret H. DeGraff and Virgil B. Van Wagoner as executors of the estate of Abram V. DeGraff of the city of Kingston, accounts filed and passed and decreed ordered, Virgil B. Van Wagoner attorney for the petitioners.

Final Divorce Decree.
A final decree of divorce has been filed by William D. Cunningham of Ellenville, attorney for plaintiff. In the action brought by Gilbert Eugene Sheeley against Lucy Sheeley, also known as Louise Sheeley. The decree was granted by Justice Wesley O. Howard of Troy on July 9.

Canadian Boundary Commissioners.
By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, July 15.—President Coolidge today appointed former Senator Fred T. Dubois of Idaho to be international joint boundary commissioner controlling the Canadian border. Dubois succeeds the late Mark A. Smith.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

MARY GRAHAM BONNER

POISON IVY AGAIN

"Once a year," said Daddy, "I usually like to tell everyone that the mean poison ivy family will never mend their ways."

"So it is best for us to try to keep away from it if we can. Poison ivy has three leaves, but no matter how much you describe these leaves people will still confuse them with other plants which have three leaves—or they will even call something poison ivy because it has three leaves at the top of the stem."

"Or perhaps it is a plant which has lost some of its leaves and which people will call poison ivy. The Brownies and the Elves, the Fairies and the Gnomes have not been able to do anything with the mean Poison Ivy family."

"They simply won't change their ways. It is hard to, I suppose, when they've had those ways all their plant lives."

"And when for years and years, too, the family has been the same."

"Plants can't mend their ways, though it might be nice if they could sometimes."

"Certainly in their case it would be nice."

"The Fairies and the Brownies and the Elves and the Gnomes didn't mind the looks of the Poison Ivy family. Their looks are quite nice and they dress neatly and in smooth, nice three-leaf costumes."

"But they wanted them to stop poisoning people with a rash and they said that was impossible."

"Some people they didn't poison because some people were not poisoned by them."

Poison Ivy Has Three Leaves.

"It was just whether a person were apt to be poisoned by them or not."

"They couldn't tell, they said."

"And they didn't have it in for one person more than another, they said."

"They were there and if people were poisoned by them, and that was all there was to it."

"So the Brownies and the Fairies and the Elves and the Gnomes couldn't make the Poison Ivy family change its mean family ways."

"It is for that reason that every year I like to tell everyone that the family will never mend their ways and to be on the lookout for the three leaves which will poison."

"Of course the best thing to do is to look in a book at the library or to get a book with colored pictures showing all about plants and see just what poison ivy looks like and then to be aware of it."

"A hot dry book which would show just how it looked, or one which showed the color and quality of the leaves would help. Or if anyone knows a person who can recognize poison ivy let him point it out—from a little distance away when the wind is not blowing."

"But there will be a picture of the plant here to show you now what it is like, though it will not be able to show you the color. The very best way is to have someone once point it out to you so you cannot forget it."

"This year, though, I want to tell you something that will help you in case you get poisoned by poison ivy."

"A great woodman told me this cure and he was used to the woods and had lived in them most of his life. He knew all about the woods people and the woods plants and what was good and what was not."

"Wash with very, very hot soapy water every hour or so."

"And after doing that," he added, "wash with hot salt water."

"This will help relieve the stinging and the burn, and it is a simple remedy."

"I am telling you this, this year, as several of our friends have written and have said:

"Is there anything we can do if we do get poisoned by poison ivy and if we do get a poison ivy rash?"

"And so this is the answer to their question as it was told me by a famous woodman."

REFRESHING ICES AND DRINKS

While the raspberries are in season look up all the good ways of preserving that delicious berry. Here is one that will be cherished when once used:

Raspberry Shrub.—Take twice as much measure for measure of fresh raspberries as vinegar. Put over the heat in a granite kettle and cook until the fruit is mushy. Strain through a muslin cloth and to each quart of this juice add a pound of sugar. Bring to the boiling point again and then bottle and seal. When serving allow two tablespoonfuls of the shrub to a glass of iced water. Older vinegar of the best quality should be used and if very acid may be diluted with a little water.

Raspberry Lacto.—Take a pint of raspberry juice or as much juice as may be pressed from a quart of ripe berries; add a cupful of sugar and a quart of good, rich, fresh buttermilk. Freeze and serve in sherbet cups. This is a most refreshing frozen dish and not so cloying to the taste as frozen creams.

Raspberry and Pieplant.—Take twice as much sliced pie plant as berries; cook together, adding sugar to make a rich preserve. Can as usual. This combination can hardly be told from the entire berry, as the rhubarb is wholly disguised by the flavor of the raspberry. Strawberries, pineapple and other flavored fruits may be used with good results. As pieplant is cheap, and most berries rather expensive, this makes quite a saving.

Orange Frothing.—To one cupful of confectioners' sugar add the grated rind and juice of an orange with a bit of yellow coloring. Beat until smooth, adding a little cream if needed for richness.

Graham Cracker Cake.—Cream two tablespoonfuls of butter, add one and one-fourth cupfuls of sugar, one and one-half cupfuls of sour milk, two eggs well beaten, thirty-two graham crackers rolled very fine, a little lemon extract, salt and one teaspoonful of soda. Mix and bake in layers, using a lemon cream for filling.

is now in Canada where he is making an inspection of the state control system of dealing with the liquor traffic. Mr. Macdonald writing in the Ladies' Home Journal says that the brewers are boosting the Quebec system and "that is why they keep sending their publicity men to Quebec."

Is there any connection between Dr. Butler's trip and the propaganda of the American brewers?

Mr. Macdonald also tells us that instead of the Canadian government controlling liquor, liquor is controlling the government. Dr. Butler will doubtless return to tell us what an ideal system government control is—for the liquor traffic.

Outlook for Farm Prices

WHOLESALE PRICES DURING THE CIVIL WAR AND WORLD WAR PERIODS (FOR THE CIVIL WAR 1860 TO 1900, AND FOR THE WORLD WAR 1910 TO 1914-1919)

Will prices go up or down, or remain stationary during the next decade? If you knew the answer to that question and knew how to take advantage of the situation, it would mean money in your pocket, according to the Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation.

Dr. G. F. Warren, agricultural economist of Cornell university, has collected evidence on the price trend to be expected. He finds prices are acting in almost exactly the same way they did following the Civil war. The price level following the Civil war continued to fall for 13 years. Dr. Warren believes price levels in the United States will again act in this way.

The present huge supply of gold has much to do with the situation. Great Britain alone has sent to the United States since the beginning of the war more than $1,500,000,000 worth of gold—nearly a quarter of all the gold money in the world. Before long, Dr. Warren thinks, Europe will take her gold back. Then prices will go down.

A SUGGESTION IN THE DAILY BILL OF FARE

As a change from potatoes, eat macaroni

by W. H. Schmitt

FOOD AUTHORITY ON NUTRITION

Physicians will tell you that macaroni is one of the most nutritious foods that you can eat. The big advantage of making salads out of macaroni is that you avoid having a dirty, messy kitchen from peeling potatoes. Besides you have 15% waste in the peels, your hands get red, rough and grimy and it's dirty, disagreeable work. Potatoes take 35 to 40 minutes to peel and cook, while macaroni will only take about 10 minutes.

One of the recipes for hot weather I have frequently recommended is sliced meat and potato salad. This menu is very popular but the salad does not necessarily have to be potato. Either boiled rice or boiled macaroni carefully prepared can take the place of this starchy vegetable. Whether cold roast pork, beef or chicken is used the meat should, of course, be sliced very thin as nothing is more unappetizing and unattractive than chunks of broken meat cut the wrong way of the grain.

Macaroni for salads should be cooked in plenty of rapidly boiling water until it is tender. The usual time is 9 or 10 minutes. For salads the elbow macaroni is really the most desirable on account of its convenient length. Many more variations of macaroni salads are possible than of potato salads. All are improved by a little grated onion. Either mayonnaise or boiled salad dressing may be used with them.

The proper method of mixing the ingredients with mayonnaise is to let it stand about 1/2 hour, then add the chilled elbows. Serve in crisp lettuce leaves; add more mayonnaise or French dressing if desired.

This makes a very delicious dish.

Tannersville Games Cancelled

Management of Colonials in Interest of Good Sportsmanship Calls Off Schedule With Mountaineers—Betting To Be Stopped.

Following the baseball game between the Kingston Colonials and Tannersville at the Fair Grounds on Monday evening the officials of the local club announced that all games scheduled with the Tannersville club had been cancelled and that no further ones would be scheduled. If the Tannersville club should reach an agreement with Poughkeepsie officials, whereby they should agree to represent the Poughkeepsie Red Sox the decision of the local club still holds.

Tannersville has been a trouble maker ever since they have appeared on the local grounds and after Monday night's exhibition the local baseball men decided to insure local fans against any repetition.

Realizing that a great deal of the trouble with Tannersville comes from the fact that large sums of money are put up on certain games the Colonial management will take steps to prevent all betting at the Fair Grounds for the rest of this year. During the four years that baseball has been played here the Colonial management has tried to reduce all betting to the minimum. Lately, however, they have been somewhat lenient in this regard but from now on policemen will be posted at various places in the grounds to see that the rule against betting is strictly enforced.

Australian Sets Swimming Mark

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Paris, July 15.—Boy Charlton, the Australia "fish" today made a new world's record in winning the 1500 metres, free style race, in the Olympic contests. Charlton won the event in twenty minutes and seven seconds. The old mark was 21 minutes 35 5-10 seconds made by Arne Borg, of Sweden, July 5, 1923.

In winning the race Charlton also set a new mark for the 1,000 metres going the distance in thirteen minutes and 19 4-5 seconds. The former mark made by Borg, August 19, 1923, was 14 minutes 3-5 of a second.

Borg finished second in the 1500 metre race, and Beaupre of Australia third.

Hatfield of England was fourth and Takashi of Japan was fifth in the 1500 metre race.

Three American mermen finished one, two and three in the final of the 400 metre, free style, race. The contest was won by Martha Norelius of Jersey City. Gertrude Ederle of New York was second and Helen Molenworth of New York third. Miss Molenworth of Great Britain was fourth.

SAYS MANAGER McNALLY MADE SEVERAL ERRORS.

Editor, The Freeman:

In your issue of Monday evening, July 14, on page 12, I wish you would make a correction in regard to McNally's team, the Studebakers, and have it published.

Mr. McNally has made several errors, as follows: There were not 4 1/2 innings played on account of rain. Also North for Rosendale. I loved only 3 hits. The game was called at the beginning of the fifth inning, Studebaker at bat, 1 run, 2 out, 1 man on first.

This is the correct account of this game. Yours in sport, J. W. VAUGHN, Sec. (Rosendale B. B. Club.)

Chiffon and Gold Are Features of This Hat

Here is shown a charming chapeau of brown chiffon and gold stitching, a combination that is most pleasing.

Where Your Leghorn Hat Was Invented Years Ago

Did you ever wonder where your leghorn hat got its name?

The "leghorn," which shades many feminine faces of a summer day, is exported from Leghorn, a port in Tuscany, says the Kansas City Star, where it was invented about the year 1840. It is made in the region around Florence.

The demand for these hats does not vary much from year to year, probably because they are both attractive and durable. They are naturally of a creamish yellow color. Their weave is close and gives the hats strength and stiffness, yet lets them bend just a bit, picturesquely, in the breeze. This quality gives the leghorn its wide reputation as a shade hat.

When you buy a real leghorn hat you may know that the braid for it was plaited by women and children in the Italian villages, who go about the streets doing the work. A few yards are made, then the braid is sewn together into hat form, or made into cones which are later blocked into various shapes. The sewing is done with a coarse, twisted cotton thread, which is hidden in the completed article, since the edges are so fitted that they seem to be woven in one piece.

The leghorn hat is made of tuscany straw, so-called, like the hat itself, from the locality from which it comes. Tuscany. The braids from which this straw is made, known as "paglia," "fiorentina" or "nostrale," are generally of thirteen strands, though they may be of only five to seven. The braid is very fine. The straw is from a peculiar kind of wheat, which is thickly sown, cut green and bleached.

Straw hats, needless to say, always are found on the list of "principal exports" from Leghorn; and they are a big factor in the city's fame.

Ever since the first leghorn hat was made, its wide, floppy brim has recommended it to feminine fancy. Its becoming shape and size, as well as its flirtatious flutter, has given it first place as a "picture hat."

Bright Colors in Lead for Snappiest Sweaters

The sweater has become an indispensable accessory to every type of sports costume. Sweaters of bouclé, a French tricot with a soft angora surface, are unusually smart. Says the Louisville Courier-Journal. They are single-toned in bright colors and display initials embroidered in black. Tricots showing an all-over cross-stitch design in square moroccan motifs are also favored mediums for the new knitted wear.

Sweaters with bands and stripes of contrasting colors are also fashionable. On these sweaters the striped portion makes the body of the sweater only—the sleeves being plain—and when hands are used they appear all around the edges. An effective model is three-quarter length and has a wide suede belt—an interesting departure from the traditional hip-length model.

An attractive sweater which is particularly adapted for midsummer wear is of skein wool woven on flat net. Another model exploits alternating bands of different motifs in an all-over design, which is usually developed in black or a dark color against a white or brightly colored background.

Way to Use Gasoline to Clean White Belt

To clean white kid belts commence operations by putting a table out of doors. You will need some clean rags and a thick white cloth to cover the table. Put some gasoline in a basin and into it put the belt; let this soak for a few minutes, then rub it and rinse it in the cloth and with pieces of rags rub off the dirt, always working in one direction, and constantly changing the surface of the rag. Rinse again in clean gasoline, and, with fresh rags, rub again until the surface is perfectly clean. Hang in the air to dry, and your belt will look perfectly clean.

Add Bright Touch

Now that the handkerchief is a decorative as well as a useful accessory, one finds the most delightful bits of linen and chiffon masquerading as a prosaic handkerchief. Exceedingly attractive are those of colored linen bordered with net which is edged with a fine line of black. When tucked into the pocket of a tulleur they look like gay flowers.

Stone for Mormon Temple

An enormous deposit of granite was found in the Cottonwood canyons of the Wasatch mountains, about twenty miles from the set site of the Mormon temple at Salt Lake City. Crystalline and glaciers had isolated enormous boulders, which were chiseled out with hand drills and transported by oxen until railroad transportation became possible. Four yokes of oxen were required for each block and every trip was a laborious journey of three or four days.

INTERESTING TO WATCH.

What the Democrats will use in the national campaign this fall against the Republicans would be hard to determine just now, but it is reasonably certain that with John W. Davis as their standard bearer they will go a bit easy on Wall Street and the corporations. That Mr. Davis is the attorney for two or three of the biggest corporations in the world will more than likely subside this line of attack unless the Democrats want to repudiate the action of the convention in New York City. What the Democrats will ever do is conjecture, but, deprived of this material, it will be interesting to watch their plan of campaign.

The opposition of William J. Bryan to Mr. Davis was looked upon early in the convention as sufficient to put the West Virginian out of the running, but when it was found impossible to agree upon anybody else, McAdoo and Smith having destroyed themselves, corporation lawyer or no corporation lawyer, Mr. Davis was the only candidate upon whom they could get together. It disclosed the action of the Democratic party's objection to the so-called corporate interests, for in this respect the Republicans never nominated a candidate who could be mentioned as being any more intimate with corporations than Mr. Davis, accepting the published list of his clients.

That the nomination of "Brother Charlie" for Vice President was to placate William J. Bryan, who had said some very vicious things about Mr. Davis but who would not be expected to continue his arraignment of the candidate with a brother running on the same ticket, was obvious. It was stated that Mr. Davis selected, or recommended, Governor Bryan for a running mate, and if he did it would indicate to some extent why big concerns retain Mr. Davis as their attorney. It was a subtle move but of no value that any politician can discover as the name of Bryan does not make votes.

What the Democrats will do in coming months in their efforts to elect their candidate for the presidency will attract attention. Hitherto they have ranted and railed against the corporations. Now, as it turns out, they have nominated a man engaged by the biggest of corporations and the last man Democrats would be counted upon to nominate in the light of what they have been saying about sordid vested interests. At any event, it is reasonably sure that they will have to modify their stock attack against corporations with Mr. Davis as the Democratic candidate.

GOOD MELODRAMA.

In cheap and artificially sensational melodrama, from the point of view of art, the stage is at its worst. But there is a form of melodrama that is convincing and powerful in its appeal because it is true to life. It has thrill in its elements of danger and conflict and brings satisfaction with the final escape from these. Why should not a master's melodrama well acted entertain a highly intelligent audience? Certain London critics having objected to the staging of "The Green Goddess" at the St. James Theatre, William Archer responded with some pointed remarks in defense of his own play and of melodrama in general.

Mr. Archer described a melodrama as "a picturesque play, containing the elements of tragedy, but ending as a rule in the defeat of the villain." When a melodrama is as good as "The Green Goddess," has proved itself to be, why, he asks, is it not a good play? The verdict of the public during its long run is that it is a good play; why, therefore, is it not fit to be presented in an aristocratic play-house? Melodrama has not until recently been associated with the name of William Archer, who was the original champion and translator of Ibsen. The story goes that, after studying plays for many years, and arriving finally at complete knowledge of what the public likes, in his old age he deliberately put together in "The Green Goddess" all the elements that captivate an audience. However that may be, his melodrama, written with master-craftsmanship after long experience and wide knowledge, has achieved phenomenal success.

AN UNUSUAL CASE.

A patient came to a physician and outlined symptoms as follows. Pain in the lower part of abdomen on left side, not awfully severe, but nagging in character, particularly when he got thinking about it.

After pointing out to him that as it was over on the left side, and was therefore not likely to be a chronic appendix, the physician stated that it was likely due to gas pressure.

He explained that the lower end of the large intestine, just before it left the body, had a double "S" curve, and it was pressure here that was causing the trouble.

He suggested that certain foods known to create gas, such as cabbage and white bread, should be left out of the diet.

He further suggested that as the patient's occupation necessitated considerable office work, that a little exercise in the form of rocking and bending would be advisable.

"But I saw another doctor who said it was muscular, and advised me to take no exercise whatever. In fact last summer he particularly cautioned me about paddling a canoe."

"And you paddled the canoe?"

"Yes."

"Did the pain increase?"

"No; I thought it was better."

The patient returned in a month and did not think he was much better.

He had taken little exercise, but had really been too busy, and so forth.

As the report of the X-ray meal stated no organic trouble, the physician had not bothered to examine the films.

However, thinking that these might show a slight delay in the passage of the barium meal in the region of the pain, he took trouble to investigate. And the films showed a remarkable condition.

Not only was the double curve unusually sharp, but there was an extra 12 inches—a whole foot—of intestine more than there should have been in his abdomen.

That is, the last part of his intestine, the part that holds waste matter only, all the good part of the food having been removed, was a foot longer than it should have been, and made the curve even sharper than normal.

This then accounted for his pain, owing to the pressure of the gas from the waste matter.

The patient, an engineer by profession, felt that it might be well to have the extra foot of intestine taken out.

However the physician pointed out to him that he had always had this extra foot and had suffered no pain until he had discontinued his exercise.

His office work was his undoing. If he were willing to watch his diet, taken 15 minutes bending and twisting exercises daily, with a walk to and from his office, he should get rid of the pain.

"Remember," said the physician "you can always get the extra foot cut out, but why not try this plan first?"

U. S. Tennis Aces In Stiff Games

Hunter, American Star Meets Washburn, Belgian Champion Today—Helen Wills Against English Star.

Paris, July 15.—Although the American tennis stars have advanced by their victories in the Olympic champion-ships, they will find the going much tougher from now on.

One of the hardest matches which the American aces will face today will be that of Francis T. Hunter, who is pitted against the hard hitting Belgian champion, J. Washburn.

Miss Helen Wills, American woman champion, who advanced to the third round without yielding a racket, will be seen in action this afternoon against Mrs. Satterthwaite, the English star.

Vincent Richards will meet M. Bloem, of Idaho, today, and Norris Williams, 2nd, will be pitted against Macnamara, of Czechoslovakia, and Wataha M. Washburn will play Van Lennep, of Holland.

The Americans started off auspiciously in the second round of the men's doubles when Richards and Hunter defeated Willard and Bayley, of Australia, 6-1, 6-2, 6-2.

The Lorrain brothers, of Chile, were eliminated in the doubles when they were defeated by Coudon and Richardson of South Africa, 6-2, 6-1, 6-6, 6-2.

In another doubles match Muller and Wennersten, of Sweden, defeated Cattarozza and Williams, Argentina, 6-2, 6-0, 6-3.

In the men's singles Manuel Alonso defeated Robson, Argentina, 7-9, 6-4, 6-0, 6-4.

After taking the first set Robson led in the second set when Alonso's stamina returned, and he overwhelmed his opponent, who made the last stand of the South American players in the singles.

Sonora Alvarez, of Spain today advanced to the fourth round in the women's singles when she defeated Miss Pooley of India, 6-0, 6-3.

Below: SAID ZAGLOUL, PASHA & MISS PHILIPPA WENDELL. Below: FRANK HUSSEY & R. DE GOROC.

The engagement of the Earl of Galloway and Miss Philippa Wendell, daughter of the late Jacob Wendell, of New York, and sister of the Countess of Carnarvon, has been announced in London. Frank Hussey, a 17-year-old New York schoolboy, led the American relay teams to victory in the 400-metre and 1,600-metre races in the Olympic games in Paris. Said Zogloul Pasha, Premier of Egypt, was wounded in the arm by a shot fired by a student in Cairo. R. de Goroc, of New York, chief caterer to the Prince of Wales on his American visit, has revealed that on his last American tour the Prince kept six valets busy dressing him up.

THREE BEST BETS IN

WHEAT FOR NEW YORK

Three best bets in wheat varieties for New York are Forward, Honor, and Junior 6. Farmers and growers who select seed from one of these are not going to be sorry, according to plant breeders of the state college of agriculture who have been working with these varieties for a long time.

The names, of course, are not trade names or "brands" which some one is trying to sell, but only the designations of varieties which the plant breeders have built up through long and painstaking efforts.

Other varieties which are giving satisfaction with some farmers are Leap's Prolific, Fulcaster, Red Rock, Red Wave, and Pennsylvania 44. But the college of agriculture at Ithaca does not recommend any of them over the three first named.

"The wheat grown in New York is very largely white," says Dr. H. H.

Love of the college staff. "In considering varieties, then, it is important for the grower to determine whether he wants to continue with white wheat or change to red. The two varieties Honor and Junior 6 are white-kernelled, while the Forward is red. The results to date indicate that the Forward gives the best yield of the three. It stands the winter well, is of fairly stiff straw, is beardless, and smuts but little.

The two white varieties, Honor and Junior 6, have good qualities; they are both very stiff in straw. Honor seems to be a little more winter hardy than Junior 6, will not smut so readily as Honor, and does not shatter so easily.

"The varieties Forward and Honor have been developed by a single plant selection at the state college of agriculture. Seed of both varieties probably will be available this year in sufficient quantities to supply all demands. Junior 6 is a purified strain of the old Number 6, also called Gold Coin. Plenty of seed of this variety is available."

MAYONNAISE DRESSING.

A well known French chef has just published a new recipe for mayonnaise dressing which he considers much superior to the one he has been using for ten or fifteen years.

It is exceedingly simple to make, the main point, he says, being not to salt the yolk of the eggs at the beginning of the operation.

For eight persons put the yolks of three eggs into a bowl and pour in the oil, beating vigorously in order to mix well. If the sauce begins to thicken, thin it with a little wine vinegar or lemon juice and recommence with the oil until three gills have been used.

Season with salt and pepper, and if it is still too thick add a drop of water if enough vinegar has been used.

This recipe is so simple it is sure to succeed if the oil is of good quality.

FLORENCE NIGHTINGALE

Florence Nightingale, a British Army nurse, was born in Florence in 1820, in May. She early exhibited an intense devotion to the alleviation of suffering, which, in 1844, led her to give her attention to hospitals. In 1854 war was declared with Russia, and on November 4th she arrived at Constantinople with thirty-four nurses.

WESTERN CANADA.

The first Canadian Province to be carved out of the vast territory formerly held by the Hudson Bay Company was Manitoba, which was duly constituted a province of the Dominion by royal and parliamentary enactment fifty-four years ago today, July 15, 1870. The "H. B. C." reigned supreme in the American Northwest from its organization in 1770 until Lord Selkirk planted a colony called the Red River settlement, near Winnipeg, in 1812. In 1869 Canada purchased the territory from the H. B. C. but an insurrection led by Indians and half-breeds, led by Louis Riel had to be suppressed before the Dominion government could take possession.

ST. SWITHIN.

According to old tradition, St. Swithin controls the weather for forty days after July 15th and you can forecast what brand of weather he is going to order by what he favors us with this day.

The Saint, who is commemorated by both the English and Latin Churches today, was the son of a Saxon parent. He entered the priesthood and early distinguished himself by his literary attainments. He became the priest of Egbert, King of the West Saxons, and was entrusted with the education of Prince Ethelwolf, father of Alfred the Great. Later he was Bishop of Winchester, holding that high position at his death in 862. St. Swithin desired that he should be buried in the open churchyard, but following his canonization the monks considered it disgraceful that his body should lie in a common cemetery, and had set July 15th as the date for the removal of his body to the choir, but on that day and for forty days following, it rained so violently, that they abandoned their purpose, accepting the torrential downpour as divine disapproval of their plans.

This probably accounts for the traditions of St. Swithin's day and its relation to the weather.

A generation ago the majority of girl babies in America were given plain names, such as Mary, Helen, Ann and Jane, but now what are known as "fussy" names seem to prevail. Battalion tests will also be conducted during the period of field training.

There will be instructions for officers in the form of tactical exercises. The list of calls that will be used will conform to the camp calls.

Judging from the above schedule that is laid down for artillery troops anyone who attends camp this summer will find it both interesting as well as instructive and the becoming a member of Battery A will alone take care of the pleasant time that can be had. Plenty of time is given to the men to enjoy themselves. No long hours are to be borne to the men as can readily be seen by the foregoing program. On a holiday the soldier has the privilege of enjoying himself as he sees fit unless unforeseen conditions arise. Battery A is now in a position to equip new men at once as plenty of clothing and other equipment has been received. Captain Cashin will be at the armory on Monday nights, to answer all inquiries and set anyone who may be in doubt on the right road. As the time shortens between now and field training it is advised that those who have any questions will visit the armory and apply to the captain at once and have all misunderstandings cleared up.

Chateau Thierry Reformed Church

Gift of Reformed Churches in America as Memorial to 500 Men of That Denomination Killed in World War.

Many Americans gathered at Chateau Thierry on Sunday to take part in the dedication of the Chateau Thierry Memorial Church, erected by gifts from America. Nearly every part of the church and its fixtures have been given as a memorial by the families of men who lost their lives in the World War.

Among them is the lecture Bible given by Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Sr., in memory of Quentin Roosevelt, who was shot down by a German airplane in the summer of 1918. She wrote an inscription of her own for the inside of the Bible.

The church itself has been given by the Reformed Church in the United States as a memorial to the five hundred men of that communion who lost their lives in the war. It is a part of the whole program of aid to the French Churches that has been carried on under the general auspices of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America.

The dedication was arranged so that it would fit in with the tour of Europe by the Huguenot pilgrims from the United States. Many of the pilgrims took part in the service, others visiting the places whence their ancestors came to settle in America two or three hundred years ago. The pilgrimage is part of the Tercentenary celebration.

The National Service Commission of the Reformed Church has been given the armistice was signed. From it was purchased a plot of ground in the town square for $11,000. All the buildings on it were wrecked by German bombs. The castle is on the adjoining lot on the top of the hill back of the city hall.

The church has cost about 1,000,000 francs. It was designed by Paul Cret, professor of architecture at the University of Pennsylvania. Practically all the furniture has been given as individual memorials by members of the Reformed Church, though a few members of other churches have been allowed to participate.

The lecture upon which the Roosevelt Bible will rest has been given by the First Reformed Church of Lancaster, Pennsylvania. It is in the form of an angel carved in wood by Alois Lang. The pulpit is a joint memorial of the 22 chaplains of the United States Army who lost their lives in the war.

The Mercersburg Academy has given the bell in memory of the men of that institution who lost their lives. Memorials were also given by Franklin and Marshall College, Franklin and Marshall Academy, the Theological Seminary of the Reformed Church at Lancaster, Ursinus College, Heidelberg University, the Theological Seminary at Dayton, Ohio, and other schools.

The Rev. Gabriel Verrier, the pastor of the Chateau Thierry Reformed Church, has visited the United States and is well known. The Rev. Dr. W. Stuart Cramer, executive secretary of the commission that erected the church, was sent by his congregation in Lancaster, Pennsylvania, to dedicate it. He carried messages from President Coolidge, General Pershing, Chief of Chaplains of the Army John F. Axton and others and a memorial silk flag from the city of Lancaster.

EMPIRE STATE LETTUCE MUST BE MADE BETTER

New York lettuce can compete with the crop produced in other sections of the United States, according to F. O. Underwood, of the New York State College of Agriculture. "During the past five years," says Mr. Underwood, "there has been an enormous increase in the production of head lettuce, and this has resulted, at times, in low prices to the producers in New York."

"Prior to 1920, New York growers had relatively little competition from other states, and under average conditions, the lettuce crop was a profitable one. At the present time, the crop is grown so extensively that only a good product can be sold at a profit during a large part of the season. This means that, with the present competition, New York growers must grow a good product and carefully grade and pack it if they are to remain in the business."

"Establish a reputation for honest and careful grading. This will go a long way toward solving the marketing problem. Another point to bear in mind is to study market conditions in other places than in the larger cities. It pays."

"Growers are asking the question, 'Can Big Boston lettuce grown in New York state successfully compete with the type of lettuce grown in the west?' Receivers of lettuce have stated that eastern growers can meet this competition if more attention is given to grading and packing."

"The freight rate to New York city for the western lettuce is in the neighborhood of $1.70, as compared with a rate of 35 cents a hundred from most sections of New York state. This high freight rate from the west is largely responsible for the careful grading and elimination of the low-grade product, since it would not pay the western grower to ship any but good lettuce. The difference in freight rates should make it possible for New York producers to meet this competition of western lettuce by more careful grading and packing."

Some fellows can get away with anything. There's one in our neighborhood who does it. Morals don't mean anything to him. He has no regard for truth or law. He never thinks of paying a bill. We saw him take a two-dollar taxi ride without giving the driver a pleasant look. And the driver only looked at him and muttered something silly. He can't play cards. Or dance, or sing, or fool around with musical instruments, or the radio. As a conversationalist, he's null and void. He neglects his appearance terribly. He has shaved for weeks. Who Paid the Fine?

Three race-course followers arrested at Aldershot on charges of drunkenness were remanded on bail of £1 each. One of them produced a wallet containing three 21 notes and left it as security. The men did not appear on remand, and the bail was exonerated. Next day the wallet was shown to the judge, who recognized it as his property. Why Papini Will Not Come Here

Noted Author Fears Death Will Claim Him If He Visits America—Other Noted Victims of Superstition.

Superstition has another slave. Giovanni Papini has disappointed America.

Long awaited as a lecturer at Columbia University, he has failed that institution. Scathing critic of things American, the great author, notably of the "Life of Christ," will continue to denounce us from a distance.

The servant is superstitious. If he should come to the United States death would surely claim him just as it took off his distinguished countrywoman, Duse. That is what the highly intellectual man fears.

And he is by no means the first person of intellect or high position to be a victim of superstition.

Belief in signs, talismans and lucky numbers is not confined to the illiterate. Princes and their professors, as well as poets and peasants, hand down strange folk-lore of countries.

Ghosts strut in full paraphernalia for the learned master of the house as readily for his humble retainers. Peasants are often afraid.

But so are the Papinis.

Egyptian Curse Upheld.

When Lord Carnarvon died of an insect bite, after exploring the tomb of King Tut-ankh-Amen in the Valley of the Kings, many persons said he fell victim of an ancient Egyptian curse awaiting those who desecrate tombs. Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, famous author and student of the occult, was inclined to accept the superstitious idea that the poison lay in the curse and not in the bite.

Then there is the weird gray raven of the Elysee Palace that flutters around the French "White House" every once in a while to the intense horror of the present tenant.

In Marie Antoinette's time the bird, called and croaked wearily. Shortly afterward the revolutionary mobs made life a burden to the queen, and she was finally led to the guillotine.

Empress Eugenie saw the hateful gray bird, which she knew "meant" the girl no good.

Since Napoleon had such extremely hard luck in his conquering business, it is reasonable to suppose that Marie, his second wife, must have really heard or seen the bird, as she claimed, and is responsible for starting the superstition.

Popular Superstitions.

There is scarcely anyone who will not "knock wood" after he says, "I have a good job," or "I have written a new song which will knock them dead," or "I just met someone that is crazy about me," because he fears, for some reason, if he expresses pleasure or confidence without paying the tribute to superstition of knocking wood, that something will change the luck from good to bad.

The late President Faure, of France, had a call from the raven and later died in the notorious Mme. Steinhell's apartment, which made over so many of the populace say, "See, I told you so!" So it is not surprising that when Faure heard the winged visitor croak a few years ago that he expected trouble in double doses.

Superstition, a good authority states, is "that which others believe and what we do not." The religion of our friend, if differing radically from our own, seems to us a superstition.

"In the heart of nearly every human being," the Encyclopedia Americana goes on, "savage or civilized, exists a settled conviction that he dwells in the midst of an unseen world peopled with beings of strange powers, who thwart the plans of his own life, or assist him in his endeavors."

Pear Borers Are At New Paltz

The sinuate pear borer is spreading in the Hudson river valley, according to a statement issued recently by the experiment station entomologist at Poughkeepsie, who warns pear growers that the pest is so insidious in its attack that young orchards may be destroyed before the grower realizes that his trees are infested. The borer is of European origin and has occurred in the lower Hudson river valley for several years. It is now advancing north, says the station specialist, and has been found as far up the valley as Hyde Park and New Paltz.

The adult borer is a copper-colored beetle about a third of an inch long which appears early in June and is present throughout the summer. The eggs are laid in crevices of the bark, and upon hatching the young larvae, or worm form, burrow directly into the cambium where they form characteristic serpentine mines or channels. When fully grown, the larvae are about one and a half inches long and a fourth of an inch wide. They may remain buried in the wood for one or two seasons.

It is the boring of the larvae into the wood that causes the damage, the mines sometimes extending for two or three feet along a branch or limb. The surface above a mine shows a cankered appearance. The mines also provide favorable places for disease organisms to become established and young trees find it very difficult to withstand attacks of borers.

The most effective remedy is to spray with arsenate of lead as the adult beetles emerge in the spring. They feed on the pear leaves, and if the poison spray is applied in time the beetles can be checked before they begin laying their eggs. Young pear orchards should receive several applications during the season. It is also advisable to examine the trees carefully in the late summer and remove by means of a sharp knife any borers that may be found.

EXPECT CROWD AT FRUIT GROWERS' MEETING.

The Locust Hill fruit farm of Charles Wilson and Bruce Jones at Hall, N. Y., has been selected as the scene of the summer meeting of the New York State Horticultural Society on Wednesday, July 30. Mr. Wilson, president of the society, has announced tentative plans for the event and urges all fruit growers interested in the program to make the pilgrimage to Hall. Judging from the attendance at former summer meetings, some 1,500 growers are expected.

In addition to a business session of the society and talks by noted persons in the state, the plans include such educational features as demonstrations of practical spraying and dusting with several types of apparatus, explanations of spraying in the Wilson and Jones orchard under the direction of specialists at the experiment station at Geneva, principles of the College at Ithaca, an inspection of a modern packing plant, and other items of interest to fruit growers.

The day will not be devoted entirely to study, however, as elaborate plans are being outlined for the entertainment of the fruit men and their families in the afternoon with a baseball game and other sports. It is also announced that the ladies of one of the local churches will serve the visitors with a hot dinner.

THONS SOLD AT
SO MUCH A YARD

See Six Husky Men to Un-coil and Measure Big, Spunky Snake.

York—There is one market in York which has a wider range belongs and shorts than Wall street. It is the python market.
can get pythons, at the right time anywhere from seven feet to five in length. Usually they as ribbon is sold; the more the more you have to pay.
form an industry, and New is the center of it for America.
year men go from here to Af-India, Sumatra and South Amer-and early in the spring New York python population of 250 or so.
are sold mostly to traveling which go on the road in the probably because the show people al-expect had business in a Free-year, or perhaps because of the ward weather, the early part of brought a slump. In general, ever, the python trade is steady;

and boas are two of the commodities which have not greatly affected in price by the Quotations and demand are now what they were ten years ago, twenty.

seven-foot python can be had for A length of 25 feet—found in the pythons from Sumatra—runs the up to $800 or $700. Boas come 16 feet is the maximum at age of eight to ten years, according size dealers, and this is also true back pythons. In price the boas where the pythons do, and the most of them fetches about $200.

Cheap Pet to Feed.
the upkeep though, is astonishingly
The big snakes are as economi-a pet as one could have; one of can sometimes get along on an and require not much larger than the bill of a husky canary, and while usually live 13 years or so, occasionally they last 40 or 50.

Sometimes they do not eat for two three years," says Louis Rube, who ports 150 a year out of the 250 that brought into the country. "Then have to use forcible feeding. Two parts of milk, with half a dozen eggs it, administered through a hose every two or three months, will keep an alive."

If the python is cheerful it feeds a month on live animals. That the meal schedule in captivity; in the wild it feeds when it can, more or less. Wild porcupine is a titbit and pig will often tempt a python.
though rabbits and guinea pigs are the most frequent dish.

The porcupine's quills have no terrors for the reptile; it knows which to swallow first so the quills will be first.

You know a python is in captivity, however, it may become distressed with life and look as if it were about to eat. A few months of this and a 25-foot snake that normally weighs 200 pounds will drop 40 pounds.
This is the time for the eggs and the mother hose.

If a snake hasn't eaten for several months it looks lethargic; one that has is not easy to handle. It takes men to measure a big python, according to Mr. Rube; to take it out of the box and use the tape and put it back. The snake often shows fight, and its way of fighting is to coil. If it gets a grip on something, then comes the war. Just lugging it out and considering it and dropping it back the box is a half-hour's work for strong men, and it leaves them exhausted.

Recovering a Stray.
Sometimes one of the big fellows goes loose. That happened not so long ago. Small boys looking up at a store window saw 25 feet of snake hanging and looking around. They called policemen, and the policeman, after two hours, succeeded in calling the snake attendants. They all got together at the store and heaved ho until the snake was boxed again. It was a wrenching job.

The men who do the hunting in the wild take chances, for they go out hundreds of miles in the forests, with only two or three attendants.
When they are among natives who will not touch a snake because of tabu, they are narrow escapes, but the tight places of pythons keep arriving in New York in time for the circus and show business, and not a snake of the lot is less than seven feet. India sends two hundred a year, Africa sends one.

Now and then it is a case of "Pigs and Pigs." The trip from India takes 45 days. A snake that started alone may be found at the end of it coiled around a dozen eggs, and in another two days the young are out.
America has a considerable domestic python business with flourishing plants in Texas. This deals with rattlesnakes and such, which have their special attentions, but it is the big snake that draws the crowd when the Barker becomes his patter before the tent.

Favor Forget-Me-Not Chotova, Alaska.—The Grand Igloo of the Pioneers of Alaska in a resolution has requested the territorial legislature to make the forget-me-not the state emblem of Alaska. The resolution declares this flower grows "on every hill and in every valley throughout Alaska's more than one-half million square miles."

Reviving Flowers
The best way to revive withering flowers is to dose them with aspirin.
According to the announcement of a leading scientist. He claims to have discovered that an ordinary aspirin tablet dissolved in warm water will keep the most delicate cut flowers fresh.

Democrats Now Convalescent

Favor Legislation Against "Hot Dogs" Since Attending National Convention—Soda Pop Also Has Recovering Phases.

Washington, July 15.—The Democratic side of political Washington is recovering from the shock of the recent National Convention. The Democrats are mostly confined to the rooms recovering from the recent National Convention. They left in June in frock coats and excellent physical condition, but as late as now they still have the frayed look of a man who has been too often to the kind of laundry.

A hundred and three ballots would even Lionel Strongfort down on the mat.

Whatever conventions may be held in the future will be entirely different from that in Madison Square Garden. If disgusted Democrats have one thing, certain Democratic leaders are preparing, at the next convention of congress, to have the hot dogs legislated out of existence. Hot dogs were nearly all there was to the Garden during the long session. "Hot dogs" now is a fighting word. So are "soda pop" and "soda pop" are fighting words. Try living for several weeks on wiener sausages and see if you don't agree with the convention survivors.

It used to be the style for merry delegates to go to a convention, see the shows, have a whoop of a party, nominate a presidential candidate casually and go home and back to work.

Now, it seems, one goes home to recover. There's much mulling to be done on the floor, with the thermometer forgetting to behave like a lady, at the air as stale as a Civil War bulletin from the front. A delegate didn't play on the variety eleven his school days hasn't a chance.

It is being freely predicted around the capital that conventions are getting back to the days when knights in armor and brave knights in armor in flower and brave knights in armor in flower and brave knights in armor in flower before fair ladies. The result of a convention is identical with that of a tournament—that knocked-out feeling.

By the time the 90th ballot was reached 1,098 delegates were convinced that they rather would have seen Al Smith and William G. McAdoo fight it out with 12-ounce maces, broadswords, quarterstaves, paces, Gatling guns, or ten-inch lengths of gas pipe than with countless ballots.

There is a lot of unfairness about these conventions, too. A grateful nation gives Congressional Medals of Honor to its soldiers, sailors and marines for such trifling things as capturing 50 of the enemy single-handed, sinking hostile dreadnoughts and making superior numbers of the foe a standstill, but what do you get for doing your bit in the convention? An income-tax assessment, due quarterly, at the most.

You can command no enthusiasm among Democrats about bigger and better conventions. But they'll jump up and cheer if you can figure out some way to hold fewer of them and then cancel them when they're due.

Radio Gives Big Chance to B. S. L.

Experience of Passengers on Board Ship Illustrates Way in Which Local B. S. L. May Get Busy.

Kingston is no exception to the rule that every community has some busy street liars who follow their calling simply for the pleasure it gives them but who seek something on which to hang an excuse for their stories.

The rapidly increasing use of the radio probably will furnish an excellent excuse for the B. S. L. who can claim to have heard his news by radio, and it is not unlikely that sooner or later the B. S. L. will get busy on some report which he imagines he has heard by radio.

The ease with which information may be twisted when received by radio is aptly illustrated by the experience of passengers who reached New York city on Monday on the steamer Duilio, and the story of what happened aboard ship is told by the New York Sun as follows:

The statement of Dr. David Todd, professor of astronomy at Amherst and the author of a number of scientific works, that New York city is in danger of an earthquake infinitely worse than the one which recently created havoc in Japan caused considerable excitement when it reached some of the passengers on the N. G. I. liner Duilio by radio as that vessel was steaming for port here this morning.

When ship news reporters boarded the vessel at Quarantine a number of nervous passengers crowded around and eagerly inquired whether it were true that the Woolworth Building had sunk into the ground.

When reporters said that the building was still there and asked where the news came from that it had suddenly sunk, the passengers said that that was the impression they got from the radio report of Prof. Todd's statement. They understood that a great fissure had opened in the earth and swallowed the building.

Prof. Todd made his statement at the home of P. M. Sharples, a friend, at West Chester, a suburb of Philadelphia. What he did say was that an earthquake here was not a remote possibility. He said that the danger lay in the existence of a joint where two strata come together beneath the earth's surface. This joint is under New York, the astronomer said, and the pressure of the new and immense skyscrapers may eventually cause this joint to slip and result in a quake.

BARITUM CARBONATE CLEARS PREMISES OF RATS.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Ithaca, N. Y., July 15.—One of the best ways to clear the premises of rats is to use barium carbonate.

But if any farmer thinks that using the poison is a job that doesn't call for real art, he has another guess coming. Rats are notional in their likes and dislikes and the rat-poisoner must realize it, says the State College of Agriculture in a statement on rat poisoning in which also gives the usual and emphatic warning against placing the baits where there is a chance that poultry, livestock or persons may get the morsels.

The first rule for success is that all baits must be fresh and of good quality. And the premises must be inspected each day to pick up the victims and to remove and destroy the uneaten baits.

"Trials should be made to find what baits rats will eat at any particular time or place, as they vary their diet according to the season and local conditions," the statement continues. "One bait from each of three classes should be treated with barium carbonate, thus making up three separate kinds of poisoned baits."

"The three kinds of baits are: 'Meats, such as hamburger steak, sausage, fish, fish offal, crab meat, fresh liver, broken fresh eggs, and bacon."

"Vegetables and fruits, including thin slices of cantaloupe, apple, tomato or cucumber, green corn, cut from the cob, mashed banana, boiled carrot, and baked sweet potato."

"Other foods, such as toasted bread, cheese, rolled oats, cereal and peanut butter."

"Thoroughly mix the barium carbonate through the soft baits with the hands, or with a spoon, in the proportion of one part barium carbonate to four parts of bait. Add water when necessary to make the baits moist. Another method is to sift the barium carbonate over the sliced baits and rub it in with the fingers or a knife."

"A teaspoonful, or a small portion of each of the three separate baits should be set in runways or other places frequented by rats. Groups of these three baits may be placed in strips of paper or boards at intervals of 10 to 20 feet."

"For any uneaten bait, substitute on the following night another from its class. If none are eaten, substitute an entirely new series. Continue to set out the poison at frequent intervals until all rats disappear."

"In poultry inclosures, it is well to place over the poisoned bait a small box with holes of two inches in diameter at each end. Then, over the small box, a large box with similar holes, but on each side, should be inverted. The bait should be very wet, or of such consistency that the rats cannot drag it from under the boxes."

THE POINT TO NOTICE IN NECKWEAR.

(By Eleanor Gunn.)

You have noticed, of course, how many necklines are V-shaped again. Not only are tailored shirts made to turn back at the neck, but dressier frocks are cut in this wise—a line flattering to most women, and particularly kindly to those unfortunate enough to have a full short throat. The bateau line, popular though it was, had a way of appearing to broaden the chest, and the difficulties of uniting this with a separate collar were great; fortunately, however, during the heyday of the bateau time, separate collars were not worn.

Neckwear sections in the smartest shops indicate that neckwear has made a triumphant reentry. Here are two of the newer types—one in organdy and velvet, which is reminiscent of the bandana, the other in voile, embroidered net and Valenciennes lace fashioned to make an exquisite bib.

Lingerie touches are not confined to neckwear—undersleeves are again in favor, and many a crepe or satin frock is made with bishop sleeves, the lace, embroidered net or batiste being introduced above the wrist-band.

Dainty rows of tiny pearl buttons are among the trimming features of some of the sheerest neckwear, while ribbon bindings introduce color, or a touch of black; either of which is helpful to the wearer, since white is not always flattering, although always refreshing. Colored collars and cuff sets are meeting also with response.

More Economical, and Quick and Easy to Prepare

Mueller's is a much more economical food than potatoes in every way. There are bad potatoes in every basket; you cut away 15% when you peel them, and they are 62% water. Mueller's is 100% food value without waste.

And Mueller's is just as easy to prepare as potatoes. Serve it the same way, with butter, with sauces, with meat gravies, with sauerkraut.

Instead of creamed potatoes, serve Mueller's Elbow Macaroni prepared the same way. In place of potatoes au gratin, use any one of the Mueller Foods; instead of fried potatoes, fry Mueller's Egg Noodles. No matter how you prepare it "the better taste!"

makes Mueller's so appetizing and delicious that it is a welcome and delightful change from potatoes.

Tannersville Quits the Field

Colonials Given Game in Eighth Inning When Forsythe Leads Mountaineers off the Field—Schickmen Tied and Would Have Won Out If Game Lasted.

The third game of the series between the Colonial baseball team and the Tannersville club was forfeited to the Kingston team, 9-0, by Umpire Jordan at the Fair Grounds on Monday evening when Tannersville walked off the field during the eighth inning of the contest. When the visitors left the field the score was tied at 3 to 3, with Colonial runners on first and third and no one out.

The action of the Tannersville players came as the climax to a number of rather sharp arguments between the members of the two teams and Umpire Jordan. The play that caused the Tannersville club to leave the field did not appear to be even close but apparently was used merely as an excuse to pull the team off the field and prevent the game from being finished.

The eighth inning was replete with excitement. Up until this inning Rube Forsythe, who was on the mound for the Tannersville aggregation, had managed to keep the Colonial players fairly well in check. Leo Dugan opened the inning by hitting a two bagger between left and second. Deegan received a base on balls. McCue sent a sharp one down to Rube who threw to third base in an effort to catch Dugan. Sandy evidently could not see the ball and allowed it to go past him. Dugan and Deegan came in home on the play while McCue pulled up at third. A long argument then ensued as to whether or not Deegan could score according to the ground rules. After listening to both sides of the debate for approximately fifteen minutes Umpire Jordan finally decided that McCue should go back to second and Deegan should go back to third. Raskin then hit to Porter who threw to McCarthy in an attempt to get Deegan at the plate. Deegan was called safe. The Tannersville club did not make any protest but, with Forsythe leading them, walked off the field.

The Fourth Inning.

The fourth inning also supplied the fans with some excitement when George Strenk of Tannersville, who was coaching on the third base line, offered very strenuous objections to a decision which Jordan had made on third base. Strenk's manner of objecting did not appeal to the crowd in the least and in a few minutes quite a number of players and spectators gathered around the home plate in a very threatening manner. A number of policemen managed to get Strenk back into the Tannersville dug out and then the excitement subsided.

The Game.

The Colonials scored the first run of the contest in the first inning.

Two American Swimmers Easily Won 200 Metre Heats Today in Olympic Tests—Eligibility of Toronto Swimmer to Prove Test.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Paris, July 15.—American swimmers today showed their class in the Olympic contests when two representatives of the United States easily won their heats in the 200 metre breast stroke.

In the first heat Bob Skelton of Chicago, easily defeated Henning of Sweden, his time being 2 minutes, 56 seconds.

In the third heat William Kirschbaum of Honolulu took 3 minutes and one second to swim the course, finishing ahead of Povaty of Czechoslovakia.

Owing to a bad ankle John Farlei of St. Paul withdrew from competition in this event.

In the water polo contest Sweden defeated Spain nine to nothing, and Czechoslovakia defeated Ireland four to two.

A dramatic incident occurred during the swimming of the 200 metre trials when the judges halted competition and ordered Turner Chapman of Toronto out of the pool because the Canadian Swimming Association had protested his entry was made under the auspices of the Canadian Olympic committee and the A. A. U.

"They are trying to wash their dirty linen in the Olympic tank," Chapman said. "They had better keep such stuff at home. This fight has been going on over five years. With Tommie Walker I qualified under the auspices of the A. A. U. Canadian Olympic committee at Brantford, Canada. Later, the Canadian Swimming Association held their meet at Winnipeg. We could not afford a 700 mile journey. Anyway we had qualified. The Canadian Swimming Association seems to have some influence here."

Walker also was bitter. "I am entered in the 100 metre back stroke tomorrow and I am going to swim if I can get a place to dive off when the race begins."

George Hearn, president of the International Swimming Federation, made the following statement on the controversy to International News Service: "The A. A. U. is the same as the Y. M. C. A. in Canada. This is a test case. If we let these two men swim it would be the same as crowning the Y. M. C. A. king of sports in Canada."

Colonials on Up-State Trip

The Colonial baseball team has started on another upstate trip, playing today in Glens Falls, opposing the strong Larry Doyle outfit. On Wednesday the Schickmen will again play the same team at Glens Falls. On Thursday, the local representatives will be at Amsterdam playing the Knights of Columbus nine of Amsterdam.

Just who will be the attraction at the Fair Grounds over the week end has not yet been decided as the games with the Tannersville outfit have been called off. The Onondaga Giants were to appear here Friday but in all probability they will be here Saturday and Sunday.

TAGGING ALL THE BASES IN THE MAJOR LEAGUES

The race in the American League tightened again when the Senators defeated the Indians, while the Yankees and Browns were splitting a double header, reducing the Yankees lead to one game.

The Giants widened the gap in the National League when they again defeated the contending Cubs, increasing the lead to eight and a half games.

Babe Ruth sent his home run march for the season up to 26.

Hack Wilson, young outfield star, will be lost to the Giants for a couple of weeks. He twisted an ankle and had to be carried off the field.

The Pirates' spurt was temporarily halted when the Phillies pounded Kremer and Stone to a 3 to 3 victory.

The Dodgers were given a fine road of whitewash by the Cardinals, Dick Egan standing his old team mates on their heads.

The Athletics tied it up in the ninth and won from the Tigers in the tenth.

The White Sox took a firmer grip on the fourth place, when the Red Sox were defeated 6 to 2.
